The following professionals have observed different parts of my leadership, instructional, client-service, and operational work. Their perspectives collectively provide a balanced view of my preparation for business and organizational consulting. Contact information and formal letters are available with permission upon request.

Contact	Professional Relationship	Relevant Perspective
Belinda De La Cruz	Senior Director of Corporate Services, Del Mar College	Observed my work as a Corporate Services Instructor, including client-needs assessment, customized program development, facilitation, feedback integration, and professional representation of the college.
Lorena Parada-Valdes	Organizational Development Manager, Port of Corpus Christi	Collaborated with me on conflict management, difficult workplace conversations, and manager-level training. Her perspective reflects my ability to listen, tailor solutions, and connect training with workplace performance.
Fabian Marin	Retired Marine Corps Chief Warrant Officer 4 and former supervisor	Observed my leadership in a demanding military environment and can address judgment, accountability, discretion, work ethic, staff development, and support to senior leaders.

Reference Use

Before a prospective employer or client contacts any recommender, I will confirm each person's availability and provide the opportunity description, current resume, and a short summary of the qualifications most relevant to the request.
